American Chinese Medical Exchange Society

美中医学交流学会 (ACMES)

www.acmes.net

American Chinese Medical Exchange Society (ACMES) is a 501c3 non-profit organization for medical professionals, founded in 2008 and operated by leading Chinese American physicians and researchers in diverse medical and healthcare fields. Our mission is to make contribution to improvement of overall quality of healthcare and spread of evidence-based medicine in China through various exchange and professional education programs and medical publications in both English and Chinese.

American Chinese Medical Exchange Society has an advisory board consisted of world renowned scholars and physicians, chaired by MIT Sloan Dean Emeritus Professor Lester Thurow and including Dr. Alexander Leaf, The fellow of US National Academy of Sciences. The Jackson Professor of Clinical Medicine, Emeritus, Harvard University, and Dr. Stan N. Finkelstein, Senior Research Scientist, Engineering Systems Division and Harvard-MIT Division of Health Sciences & Technology, Associate Professor of Medicine, Harvard Medical School.

"There are significant differences between the U.S. and China in various medical and healthcare domains, due to historical, economical and cultural reasons. In the area of clinical medicine, the differences are the most profound and more significant than many have recognized in the past." – Dr. June Kong, President of ACMES

Medical Publications (专业与科普期刊)

To disseminate advanced medical knowledge, to focus on health of the Asian American population, and to encourage mainland Chinese physicians to publish in Western-based medical publication, ACMES has been publishing "North America Journal of Medicine and Science (NAJMS)" (<http://najms.net>) and the Chinese language "North American Journal of Medicine and Health" (<http://najms.org>) since 2008. NAJMS is based on latest basic medical and clinical research, targeting the perspective of health care disparities in minority populations, controversies in multidisciplinary areas, and complementary medicine. NAJMS is expected to be included in SCI within a year and a half.

ACMES IMD (国际医师项目)

To "internationalize" China's healthcare and to enhance exchange between Chinese and American medical communities, ACMES plans to collaborate with leading US hospitals and academic institutions to bring 1,000+ leading Chinese physicians of different disciplines to the US for professional training over the next five years. In collaboration with Joslin Diabetes Center, our inaugural program is a Diabetes program for leading Chinese endocrinologists, planned for June 2011.

"When you get out of the 1st tier cities like Shanghai and Beijing, most physicians cannot afford western professional medical education, but they are the ones who need it the most." - Ning Zhou, Director of ACMES IMD program.

Liver Cancer Free Campaign: Mobilizing Public Support for Congressional Funding for Viral Hepatitis Research and Prevention Programs

Mark Li, MD, Eric L. Ding, ScD

Few in the general public know that Hepatitis B virus (HBV) is a leading cause of cancer in humans, most notably liver cancer, the fifth leading type of cancer in the world. As many as 2 million Americans and 500 million people worldwide have viral hepatitis B, which accounts for 80% of all liver cancers worldwide. Most notably, Asian Americans have higher prevalence of viral hepatitis B than other racial and ethnic groups. Of the estimated 2 million chronic hepatitis B patient in the US, over half are Asian Americans. Among API men living in California, liver cancer ranks as a leading cause of cancer death: #1 for Laotian Americans, #2 for Vietnamese and Cambodian Americans, #4 for Chinese and Korean Americans and #5 for Filipino Americans. ....more at NAJMS. 2010; 3(1):41-42, www.najms.net

Liver Cancer Free campaign appeals to everyone to use the same site to speak out with one voice to their congressional representatives. "Together We Can" makes a difference in the prevention and treatment of liver cancer.

戰勝肝癌運動

愛滋病：六億九千兩百萬 (2009會計年度)

性病：一億五千二百卅萬(2009會計年度)

肺結核：一億四千三百八十萬(2009會計年度)

肝炎：一千八百卅萬(2009會計年度)

表達您的意見，請利用以下網站送一份電郵給您的國會議員 www.livercancerfree.org

使用簡便；只要輸入您的地址及郵政區號，要求您的親友都加入這項活動。

肝炎及肝癌：一項預防及控制乙肝及丙肝的國家策略！

美国有五百三十万或百分之二的全国人口患有慢性乙肝或丙肝。但是由于乙肝或丙肝多没有症状，大部分患者很多年都不了解自己的病况，直到几年后发展成肝癌或肝病。

医学院的一项研究显示这些病症没有被认为是严重的公共健康问题，其结果肝炎的预防，控制及追踪一直没有得到应有的支持。为了改正这种缺失，医学院建议增加医生，社工，及大众对于慢性肝炎的知识及了解。加强对于乙肝丙肝的追踪，改进对肝炎病人的整体服务。

novo nordisk is changing diabetes®

Leadership... it's time to think differently about what a pharmaceutical company can be. Novo Nordisk has dedicated itself to defeating diabetes, which is an interesting goal given that diabetes is the primary focus of our business. Success would undoubtedly force us to change, but then again, change is what we have always embraced.

Changing Diabetes® means helping with our actions, and not just with our products. It means staying true to our ideals and being respectful of the world we live in. And it means continuing to dedicate significant resources to diabetes research until a cure is found.

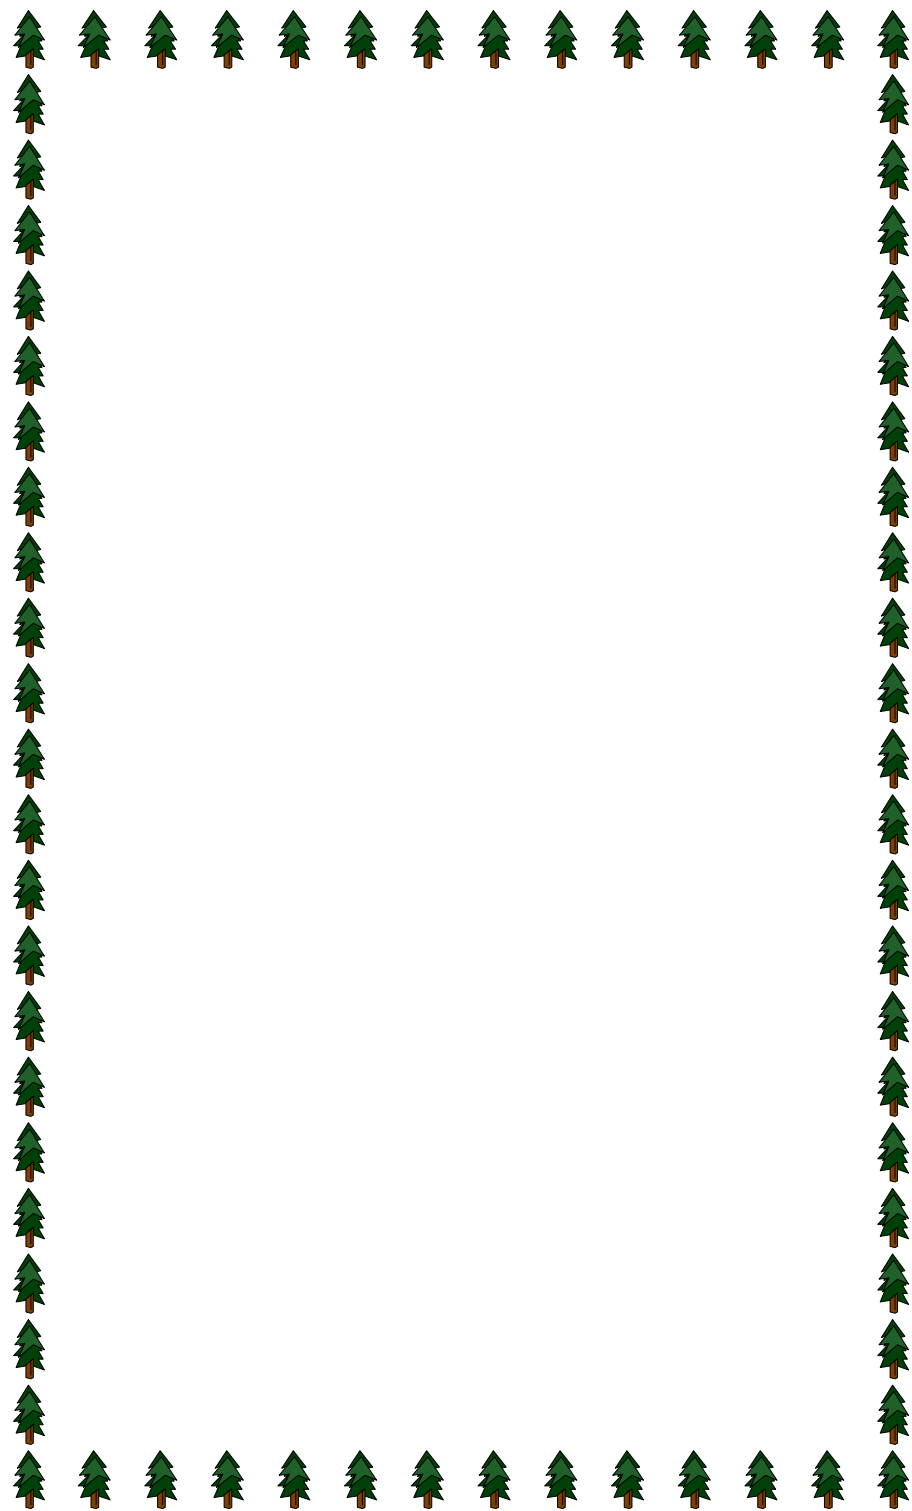

With leadership comes responsibility. We are committed to improving options for care now while partnering with others who share our mission and ultimate goals of defeating this disease.
